A multi-tiered pendant light fixture with starburst-shaped elements hangs in a modern living room. The fixture consists of several starburst-shaped elements, each made of a metal frame covered in small, clear crystals. These elements are suspended from a central point by thin, dark cords. The living room features a large window with a view of a city at night, a sofa with patterned cushions, and a textured wall. The lighting is warm and ambient, highlighting the crystals on the pendant light.
